

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

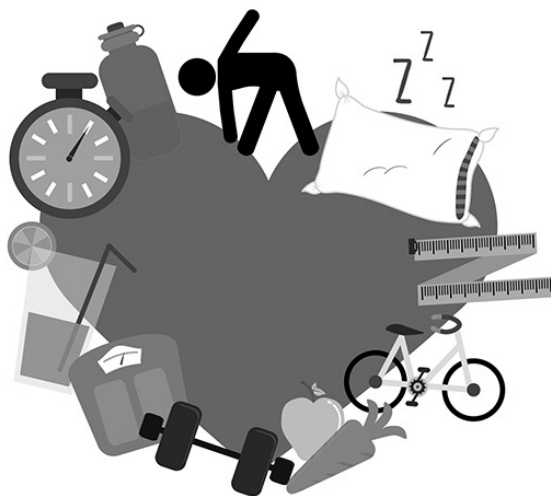

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe personal and regional eating habits and cooking in a range of communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about daily routines and eating habits.
- I can express what is necessary.
- I can talk about people's past habits.

Ask your partner:

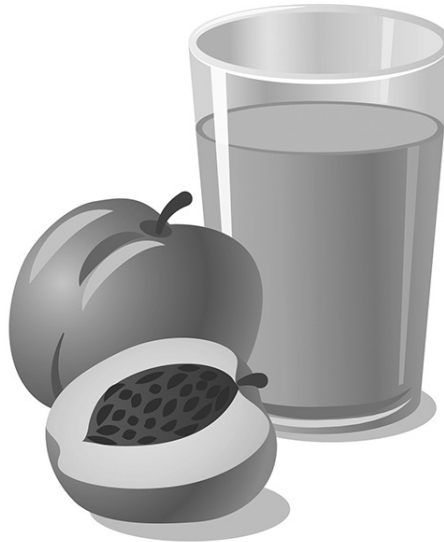

- Do you eat anything unhealthy?
- What do you think is a healthy meal?
- What healthy habits would you recommend people acquire?

Let's Explore!

These are words you use to talk about cooking and diet.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: So, Sally, how are you doing with your new lifestyle?
- Sally: Well! I used to eat out a lot. Lately, I've been cooking more at home, balancing a small portion of lean-grilled meat with sautéed veggies and some soft brown rice.
- Peter: Wow. That's a dramatic turnaround.
- Vanessa: Congratulations. I hope you can keep it up.
- Sally: Well, I've got to. And I've reduced my caffeine intake to 3 cups of coffee a day. I used to have 6 cups a day. I go through a quart of skim milk a week at home when I didn't use to have any. I also consume a pint of real fruit juice throughout the afternoon.
- Peter: It's so hard to be healthy eating with my family. At birthday parties and festivals, I would ingest a lot of deep-fried foods, and oily dishes.
- Vanessa: Well, enjoy the food, but don't have too much of it.
- Sally: You're going to have to burn those calories. I've gotta cut down on the sweets and fries, too.
- Peter: Yes, and you also have got to focus on the results and just stick with your strategy.

Let's Practice!

Do Sally and Peter have similar ways of preparing food?

Instructions: Match the sentence in column A with a sentence in column B.

COLUMN A

1. I've got to balance my meals
2. I'm going to have to add in some
3. At birthdays and festivals, my family would

COLUMN B

- a. with a small portion of lean-grilled meat.
- b. sautéed vegetables with some brown rice.
- c. cook a lot deep fried food and oily dishes.

Let's Practice!

What's Sally's plan to keep up her diet?

Instructions: Complete the sentences below by choosing one option from the Word Bank.

Word Bank

gotta cut down / have got to / have to burn

1. You're going to _____ those calories.
2. I've _____ on the sweets and the fries, too.
3. You also _____ focus on the results and just stick with your strategy.

Extension Activity

Plan a healthy birthday celebration meal for yourself.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- You are going to plan the celebration meal for your next birthday.
- Write down the dish you would like your family to make for you and the ingredients necessary for that dish. Write the whole menu plan in English.
- Include healthy but tasty food in your menu.
- Show the menu plan to your family. Keep it until your birthday.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I describe how food is prepared. I express quantity.

☐ ☐

I write the names of foods in English.

☐ ☐

I include nutritious foods in my menu plan.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to sauté (verb): to pan fry food with a small amount of oil
e.g. I have to sauté vegetables with my dinner.
- to cut down (verb): to reduce on the amount you use or consume
e.g. I've gotta cut down on the sweets and fries.
- to go through (verb): to use a certain amount of something in a period of time
e.g. We go through a quart of skim milk a week at home.
- to ingest (verb): to eat or swallow
e.g. At birthday parties and festivals, I would ingest a lot of deep-fried foods.
- to burn (energy or calories) (verb): to expend, to use up or spend e.g. You're going to have to burn those calories because you ate so much.
- calorie (noun): a unit used to measure the amount of energy that foods will produce in the body
e.g. I need to eat more low calorie foods to not gain weight.

Learning Points

Expressing Necessity

"Have got to" is used to express necessity.

"Going to have to" expresses a necessary action in the future or a condition.

"Have got to" has irregular forms in the past and future. Look at the chart below.

Present	Subject I/You/We/They	+ have got to 've got to	+ verb in base form (infinitive)	+ complement
Present	Subject He/She	+ has got to 's got to	+ verb in base form (infinitive)	+ complement
Past	Subject	+ had to	+ verb in base form (infinitive)	+ complement
Future	Subject	+ will + have + to	+ verb in base form (infinitive)	+ complement

Examples:

Present	Past	Future
I've got to save money.	I had to live on a tight budget.	I will have to watch my spending habits.

You use "Don't have to" or "Doesn't have to" to express what is not necessary.

Remember to use a verb in its base form after "Don't/Doesn't have to".

Structure:

Subject You/We/I/They She/He	+ auxiliary in negative don't doesn't	+ have to	+ verb in base form (infinitive)	+ complement
------------------------------------	--	------------------------	-------------------------------------	-----------------

Examples:

You don't have to eat just a little bit or eat only salads.

She doesn't have to watch her portions.

"Going to have to" also expresses a necessary action in the future.

Learning Points

Examples:

I'm gonna have to cut down on my coffee.

I'm going to have to invest in a small machine.

It's also used as a conditional for a resulting action.

Example:

Because I'm on a tight budget, I'm going to have to cook more often at home.

How much did you use to have?

"Used to" and "would" express an action that occurred regularly in the past.

But:

Only "used to" expresses repeated habits in the past.

Only "would" is more formal and sentimental.

Structure:

Used to	Would
Subject + used to + verb in basic form (infinitive) + complement	Subject + would + verb in basic form (infinitive) + complement

Examples:

Past Pattern with used to	Past Pattern with would	Present
I used to drink 6 cups of coffee a day.	I would spend a lot of money at the cafe.	Now I have only 3 cups of coffee a day.
My family used to cook a lot at birthday parties.	I would end up ingesting a lot of oily food.	I enjoy the food, but I don't have too much of it.

