Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: You are eating what? That's not good for you!

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe personal and regional eating habits and cooking in a range of communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can say and use the sound fl.
- I can talk about what is necessary.
- I can stress new information.

Ask your partner:

- Do you try to eat healthy meals or junk food?
- What is your favorite junk food to eat? Chips? Ice-cream?

Let's Explore!

Sally and Vanessa chat about their day-to-day activities. What does Vanessa think of Sally's eating habits?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Hey Vanessa. What have you been up to?
- Vanessa: Not much, I'm just at the supermarket grabbing a loaf of fresh bread, a carton of eggs and some flour to make pancakes. I'm having a leisurely Sunday breakfast. You?
- Sally: Oh, Linda and I went to that burger joint on First and Bayview last night. Then we went to a late show.
- Vanessa: Oh that greasy diner? Sally ... you have to think about what you are consuming.
- Sally: Their fries are delicious. I topped off my meal with an enormous chocolate sundae - my favorite flavor.
- Vanessa: You're going to have to stop eating so much garbage.
- Sally: Hey, I'm young ... and I exercise. I burn off those extra calories.
- Vanessa: True. You've got to stop by the restaurant sometime. I'll get the chef to whip up a few healthy appetizers for you.
- Sally: I've got a little bit of time next week. By the way, have you heard from your old flame?
- Vanessa: Ahhhh no. Gotta fly! See ya.

Let's practice!

Time to practice placing emphasis on certain words*.

* Certain Words: These include key words in the sentence or words to focus meaning.

Learning Points

L Family Consonants

Consonant clusters like fl can occur at the beginning of a word in English. Practice blending the sound from one consonant sound into the next without adding a vowel sound in between.

Look and say the words with the fl sound aloud.

flute	flame	flag	flashlight
flask	flower	flour	Florida

Stressing New Information

Sentence stress gives English its rhythm or "beat".

Word stress is emphasis on one syllable within a word.

Sentence stress is emphasis on certain words within a sentence.

Most sentences have two basic types of words:

Content Words

- Content words are the important or key words of a sentence. They provide the meaning of the sentence.

Structure Words

- Structure words are not important words. They are small words that you use to make the sentence correct.

New Information Stress

- When asked a question, the requested information is stressed.

Examples:

- Where are you from? - I come from Cambridge, in the USA.
- What do you want to do? - I want to go to the movies.
